What's new

For the 2024 tax-filing season, EFILE accepts the current tax year (2023) plus up to six prior tax years (2017 to 2022). An error code may be valid for all seven years or it may be valid for some years only. The year or years to which the error code applies are clearly identified.

Below are the lists of new, deleted and updated error codes for the 2023 income tax return. Please note that the lists do not include:

- Spelling corrections
- Grammatical corrections
- Formatting changes
- Revisions to improve readability

The following error codes have been added:

Introduction

While all preparers intend to transmit their clients' records free of error, mistakes sometimes occur as a result of keying errors or missing entries. One way to avoid errors is to review the data before it is transmitted to ensure that the record is correct.

The purpose of this chapter is to provide assistance to preparers in correcting records that are not accepted due to error conditions.

How error codes are set

Validation of EFILE records is done in stages. This means that an EFILE record must clear one stage of validities before validation in the next stage is performed. Depending on the errors, an EFILE record could be rejected several times with different error codes being set each time.

Error codes could be set at the following stages of validation:

- Identification and format – Error codes 1 to 99, 1NNNNN, 3NNNNN, 5NNNNN, 80308, and/or error codes relating to selected financial data.
- EFILE balancing – Error codes 4NNNNN, 9NNNNN, and some 3NNNNN and 7NNNNN.
- Error detection – Error codes in the 300, 400, 500, and 2000 ranges as well as some 7NNNNN.
- Selected financial data (SFD) records – Error codes in the Y00000 range.

Responding to error codes

This chapter explains the reason and/or the action required for the various error codes you might see.

Unless otherwise stated, a record can be retransmitted once errors have been corrected. Unless error codes 78 and/or 81 are present, the document control number should remain the same when retransmitting a previously non-accepted record.

Where an error code is received, you should be able to resolve the situation with the information contained in this chapter. However, if you encounter an error condition that is not covered, or if you need further clarification on the information contained in this chapter, call the EFILE Helpdesk in your tax centre for assistance.

Before calling your EFILE Helpdesk, have all the relevant information concerning the applicable error code available. Being prepared helps us both. For example, if you receive error code 40, you will have to provide your client's date of birth.

EFILE Helpdesks were established to help tax preparers and transmitters resolve technical matters related to the electronic filing process. The Helpdesk phone numbers are for the exclusive use of EFILE preparers and transmitters and must not be provided to individual taxpayers. If your client wants information about repayment amounts required, carry-forward amounts available, refunds or status of the return, direct them to call 1-800-959-8281.

You should inform your clients about any processing delays, as well as advise them to wait at least four weeks after their return has been accepted in EFILE, before inquiring about their refunds.

For error codes related to format, contact your software developer for assistance.

While software products may pass the Canada Revenue Agency certification test, we do not test or review the products for user friendliness. Any comments you have regarding your software product should be directed to the developer.

List of error codes

Error codes 1 to 99

2	2017 to 2021	The taxpayer's social insurance number (SIN) is a temporary number or begins with a zero. Only newcomers to Canada with a SIN starting with a zero are eligible to use EFILE. If the taxpayer is an immigrant to Canada in the year, enter a date of entry. If the entries are correct, submit a paper return.
6	2017 to 2023	The Canada Revenue Agency is unable to process this return due to system constraints. If the entries are correct, a paper return should be submitted. If you require assistance, please call the Individual tax enquiries line at 1-800-959-8281 .
8	2017 to 2023	More than eight errors have been detected. Due to space constraints, only eight error codes can be displayed. Please review your entries and make the necessary corrections.
