T5007 Guide – Return of Benefits

2023

Is this guide for you

Sections 232 and 233 of the Income Tax Regulations require every person who pays an amount for workers' compensation benefits or social assistance to file an information return to report those payments. This is done using the T5007 information return. It consists of a T5007 Summary and all related T5007 slips. You can use these to report income payments of either type.

This guide is designed to help workers' compensation boards, social services agencies, and other organizations determine:

- what types of benefits or assistance to report
- when and where to file the T5007 information return

This guide also explains how to fill out the T5007 Summary and the related T5007 slips.

The CRA's publications and personalized correspondence are available in braille, large print, e-text, and MP3. For more information, go to canada.ca/cra-multiple-formats or call 1-800-959-8281.

Confidentiality of information

Under the Privacy Act, the personal information you provide on the T5007 information return and related forms can be used only for the purposes authorized by law.

Income Tax Act references

Unless otherwise stated, all legislative references are to the Income Tax Act, or where appropriate, the Income Tax Regulations.

La version française de ce guide est intitulée Guide T5007 – Déclaration des prestations.

What's new

Mandatory electronic filing

Under proposed changes announced in Budget 2022, the threshold for mandatory electronic filing of income tax information returns for the 2023 calendar year has been lowered from 50 to 5 information returns. For the latest information about the penalty for not filing information returns over the Internet, go to canada.ca/mandatory-electronic-filing. You may also subscribe to the CRA's email distribution list about the electronic filing of information returns at canada.ca/cra-email-lists.

Electronic remittance or payments above $10K

As of January 1, 2024, payments or remittances to the Receiver General of Canada should be made as an electronic payment if the amount is more than $10,000. Payers may face a penalty, unless they cannot reasonably remit or pay the amount electronically. For more information, go to canada.ca/payments.

Internet file transfer availability

Internet filing is available from January 8, 2024.

Chapter 1 – General information

This guide does not deal with every tax situation. For a list of publications that explain certain situations in greater detail see “References” on page 15.

If you are filing your T5007 information return electronically, see “Chapter 5 – Filing methods” on page 6.

T5007 slip

Use T5007 slips to identify recipients of workers’ compensation benefits and social assistance payments, and to report the amount of benefits and assistance paid to them.

There are three individual T5007 slips on each page. These can be downloaded and printed and the information can be typed or filled out by hand.

The T5007 slips make it easier for recipients of these benefits or assistance payments to determine the amounts they received during the year. The income shown on the T5007 slip is not taxable, but the recipients must include the amounts in their net income. The recipients need this information if they want to claim the guaranteed income supplement and certain tax credits and payments to which they may be entitled. These include the Canada child benefit, the goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax credit, some provincial or territorial tax credits and benefits, and some non-refundable tax credits such as the age amount, the spouse or common-law partner amount, and medical expenses.

T5007 Summary

The T5007 Summary is a one-part form you use to total all the amounts you are reporting on the T5007 slips. Do not send us a paper copy of the T5007 Summary if you file your information return electronically.

Due date

You have to file a T5007 information return on or before the last day of February following the calendar year to which the information return applies. When a due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or public holiday recognized by the CRA, your return is considered on time if we receive it or if it is postmarked on or before the next business day. Note that several provinces and territories have their own unique holidays. Therefore, due dates may be affected depending on where you reside. For a list of public holidays, go to canada.ca/taxes-dates-individuals.

You can send recipients an electronic copy of their T5007 slips. The recipient must have consented in writing or by email to receive the slips electronically.

Send the recipients’ copies of the T5007 slips to their last known address or deliver them in person. You have to do this on or before the day you have to file the T5007 information return.

Important information: Electronic filing of information returns

All information returns should be filed electronically to avoid the delays that may occur in processing paper submissions. Filing of paper returns may result in penalties.

The CRA offers two methods for electronically filing your information returns:

- Web Forms — with each submission, you can include up to 100 slips.
- Internet file transfer — You can submit files of up to 150 MB over the internet.

Some of the benefits of electronically filing your returns are:

- your return will be processed without delay
- you will receive a confirmation number when you file
- slips are available sooner for Auto-fill my return

For more information about Web Forms, Internet file transfer, and penalties, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Chapter 2 – Who has to file a T5007 information return

Any provincial, territorial, municipal agency or board, or similar body has to file a T5007 information return when it:

- makes social assistance payments based on a means, needs, or income test
- pays an amount to an individual for compensation under a federal, provincial, or territorial employees’ or workers’ compensation law for injury, disability, or death
- adjudicates a claim and determines that an individual is entitled to compensation under a federal, provincial, or territorial employees’ or workers’ compensation law for injury, disability, or death even if:
 - it does not make a payment to the individual, or
 - the total compensation received by the individual exceeds the amount he or she is entitled to

Employers who continue to pay an employee’s salary before and after a workers’ compensation board claim is decided do not have to file the T5007 information return. For more information, see “Box 10 – Workers’ compensation benefits” on page 9.

Chapter 3 – Benefits and assistance you have to report

Paragraphs 56(1)(u) and 56(1)(v) of the Income Tax Act describe social assistance payments and workers’ compensation benefits that the recipient has to include in their income. The following list describes the most common types of workers’ compensation benefits and social assistance payments. Although the list is not complete, it can help you determine what types of payments you should report.

Workers' compensation benefits

Workers' compensation benefits include the following types:

Injury

This is compensation paid under a federal, provincial, or territorial employees' or workers' compensation law for an injury. These amounts include benefits that are a wage-loss replacement for time lost from employment due to a compensable injury or condition.

Disability

This is compensation paid under a federal, provincial, or territorial employees' or workers' compensation law for a disability. These amounts include:

- wage-loss replacement income paid to an injured worker who suffered a partial, total, temporary, or permanent disability as a result of a work-related accident
- compensation for future loss of earnings made to an injured worker who suffers from an injury resulting in permanent impairment or temporary disability

Death

This is compensation paid under a federal, provincial, or territorial employees' or workers' compensation law as a result of death. These amounts include:

- survivor benefits that are periodic payments to a dependent spouse or common-law partner, dependent children, or orphans
- wage-loss replacement income periodically paid to a surviving spouse or common-law partner to replace the income that a worker who died in a work-related accident or as a result of an industrial accident would have earned

Social assistance payments

Social assistance payments are payments made to individuals or third parties based on a means, needs, or income test. They include payments for food, clothing, and shelter requirements. These amounts can also include actual rental or mortgage amounts paid for accommodation.

Chapter 4 – Benefits and assistance you do not have to report

Workers' compensation benefits

Do not report a payment or an award for:

- medical expenses incurred by or for the employee
- funeral expenses for the employee
- legal expenses for the employee
- job training or counselling for the employee that is not paid as part of, or in lieu of, wage replacement benefits

- the death of the employee, other than periodic payments made after the death of the employee

Note

Do not include the interest part of retroactive workers' compensation payments in the benefit amount you report on the T5007 slip. This interest, which accumulates to the date the award is made, is not included in income. Do not issue a T5007 slip or a T5 slip for these interest payments.

Social assistance payments

Do not report a payment:

- that is made in a year as part of a series of payments totalling $500 or less in the tax year
- that is not part of a series of payments
- for medical expenses incurred by or for the payee
- for child-care expenses that include baby-sitting services, day-nursery services, or services provided at a boarding school or camp, if the cost for these services would otherwise qualify for a deduction under section 63 of the Income Tax Act
- for funeral expenses for a person related to the payee
- for legal expenses incurred by or for the payee or a person related to the payee
- for job training or counselling for the payee or a person related to the payee

Note

Do not prepare a T5007 slip for social assistance payments for amounts (often called bed reservation fees) paid to individuals to keep their principal place of residence available for use by a foster person.

Chapter 5 – Filing methods

Internet filing is available from January 8, 2024. You must file information returns online if you file more than 5 information returns (slips) for a calendar year.

If you use commercial or in-house developed software to manage your business, you can file up to 150 MB by Internet file transfer. For example, a service bureau can file multiple returns in one submission, provided the total submission does not exceed the 150 MB restrictions.

If your return is more than 150 MB, you can either compress your return or divide it so that each submission is no more than 150 MB.

Note

If you are filing multiple slips electronically for the same return type, tax year and account number, group all slips together under one summary and file as one return. File original and amended slips in separate returns. For more information on filing information returns using the Internet, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Mandatory electronic filing

Failure to file information returns over the Internet

If you file more than 5 information returns (slips) for a calendar year and you do not file the information returns by Internet file transfer or Web Forms, you are liable to a penalty determined as follows:

Number of information returns (slips) by type	Penalty
6 – 50	$125
51 – 250	$250
251 – 500	$500
501 – 2,500	$1,500
2,501 or more	$2,500

Filing by Web Forms

Our Web Forms application is free and secure. To use it, all you need is access to the Internet. With Web Forms you can fill out an information return easily, following the step-by-step instructions.

Web Forms lets you:

- file up to 100 slips (original, additional, amended, or cancelled) from our website
- calculate all of the totals for the summary
- create an electronic information return containing slips and a summary, which can be saved and imported at a later date
- print all your slips and your summary
- validate data in real time

After you submit your information return, you will receive a confirmation number that will be your proof that we received it.

To use the Web Forms application, you must have a web access code. If you do not have a web access code, you can easily get one online or by calling us. For more information, see “Web access code” on this page.

To start using this application or to get more information about Web Forms, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Filing by Internet file transfer

Internet file transfer allows you to transmit an original or amended return with a maximum file size of 150 MB. All you need is a web browser to connect to the Internet and your software will create, print, and save your electronic T5007 information return in XML format. For information about this filing method, contact your software publisher or go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Web access code

To file your return over the Internet using the Internet file transfer or Web Forms service, you will need a business number and its associated web access code (WAC), unless you are filing through My Business Account or Represent a Client. For more information about these services, see the next section, “Filing without a Web access code” on this page. If you have misplaced or do not have a WAC, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref to access our web access code online service. If you cannot get your WAC online or would like to change it, call 1-800-959-5525.

Filing without a Web access code

To register as a business owner, go to My Business Account at canada.ca/my-cra-business-account and do the following:

- Select “CRA Register” and create a CRA user ID and password. You can also select “Sign-In Partner Login/Register” and use the same sign-in information you use for other online services, such as online banking.
- To register, you will need to provide all of the following information:
 - your social insurance number (SIN)
 - your date of birth
 - your postal code or ZIP code
 - an amount you entered on your Income Tax and Benefit Return (the line requested will vary). It could be from either the current or previous tax year
 - your business number (BN)
- You must enter a CRA security code to finalize the registration process. You can ask for the CRA security code by paper mail or email
- Return to My Business Account, to enter your CRA security code

To register as a representative, including employees of a business, go to Represent a Client at canada.ca/taxes-representatives and do the following:

- Select “CRA Register” and create a CRA user ID and password. You can also select “Sign-In Partner Login/Register” and use the same sign-in information you use for other online services, such as online banking.
- To register, you will need to provide:
 - your access code from your notice of assessment
 - your postal code or ZIP code
- Register as the business owner (using your BN) or yourself and receive a representative identifier (RepID), or create a group of representatives and receive a group identifier (GroupID).

Note

If the business authorizes you online in My Business Account at canada.ca/my-cra-business-account, you will have immediate online access to the business accounts.

Once you are registered as the business owner, or registered and authorized as a representative, an employee, or a group of employees, you will be able to file or amend T5007 slips without a Web access code.

Filing on paper

If you file 1 to 5 slips, we strongly encourage you to file over the Internet using Internet file transfer or Web Forms. However, you can still file up to 5 slips on paper.

If you choose to file your return on paper, mail it to:

T5007 Program
Jonquière tax centre
Post Office Box 1300 LCD Jonquière
Jonquière QC G7S 0L5

Filing using computer printed (customized) forms

For those who complete a large number of slips, we accept certain slips other than our own. The applicable information slip must be provided. To ensure accuracy, follow the guidelines for the production of customized forms at canada.ca/cra-customized-forms or see Information Circular IC97-2R, Customized Forms.

Chapter 6 – Penalties and interest

Late filing and failure to file the T5007 information return

You have to file the T5007 information return (slips) and give the T5007 slips to the recipients on or before the last day of February following the calendar year to which the information return applies. When a due date falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or public holiday recognized by the CRA, your return is considered on time if we receive it or if it is postmarked on or before the next business day. Note that several provinces and territories have their own unique holidays. Therefore, due dates may be affected by where you reside. For a list of public holidays, go to canada.ca/taxes-dates-individuals. The minimum penalty for late filing the T5007 information return (slips) is $100 and the maximum penalty is $7,500. For the complete penalty structure, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Failure to provide information on a return

Anyone who prepares an information return has to make a reasonable effort to get the necessary information, including the social insurance numbers from the individuals that will receive the slips. If you do not do this, you may be liable to a $100 penalty for each failure to comply with this requirement.

Failure to provide a social insurance number (SIN) on a return

Make sure the social insurance number (SIN) and name you enter on the T5007 slip for each recipient are correct.

If the individual does not give you his or her SIN, you should be able to show that you made a reasonable effort to get it. For example, if you contact a recipient by mail to ask for his or her SIN, record the date of your request and keep a copy of any correspondence that relates to it. If you do not make a reasonable effort to get a SIN, you may be subject to a penalty of $100 for each failure. If you cannot get a SIN from the recipient, file your information return, without the SIN, no later than the last day of February. If you do not, you may be subject to a penalty.

For more information, see Information Circular IC82-2R, Social Insurance Number Legislation that Relates to the Preparation of Information Slips, or visit the Service Canada website at canada.ca/service-canada-info.

Interest on penalties

We charge interest, compounded daily at the prescribed rate, on the total amount of penalties and interest outstanding. Interest and penalties are payable to the receiver general. For the prescribed interest rates, go to canada.ca/taxes-interest-rates.

Cancel or waive penalties and interest

The CRA administers legislation, commonly called the taxpayer relief provisions, that gives the CRA discretion to cancel or waive penalties or interest when taxpayers are unable to meet their tax obligations due to circumstances beyond their control.

The CRA's discretion to grant relief is limited to any period that ended within 10 calendar years before the year in which a request is made.

For penalties, the CRA will consider your request only if it relates to a tax year or fiscal period ending in any of the 10 calendar years before the year in which you make your request. For example, your request made in 2023 must relate to a penalty for a tax year or fiscal period ending in 2013 or later.

For interest on a balance owing for any tax year or fiscal period, the CRA will consider only the amounts that accrued during the 10 calendar years before the year in which you make your request. For example, your request made in 2023 must relate to interest that accrued in 2013 or later.

To make a request, fill out Form RC4288, Request for Taxpayer Relief – Cancel or Waive Penalties or Interest. For more information about relief from penalties or interest and how to submit your request, go to canada.ca/taxpayer-relief.

Failure to provide a social insurance number

Individuals have to give their social insurance number (SIN) on request to anyone who has to prepare an information slip for them. A person who does not comply with this requirement is liable to a $100 penalty for each failure.

An individual who does not have a SIN has 15 days from the date of an information request to apply for one at any Service Canada Centre. Application forms and instructions are available on their website at canada.ca/esdc. After receiving the SIN, the individual has 15 days to provide it to the person who is preparing an information return.

For more information about SIN reporting requirements, see Information Circular IC82-2R, Social Insurance Number Legislation that Relates to the Preparation of Information Slips.

Using the social insurance number

If you have to prepare an information return, or if you are an officer, employee, or agent of someone who does, you cannot knowingly use or communicate a social insurance number, or allow it to be communicated, without the written consent of the individual, other than as required or authorized by law or for the purpose for which it was provided.

If you use a social insurance number for unauthorized purposes, you may be guilty of an offence. If convicted, you are liable to a maximum fine of $5,000, or imprisonment of up to 12 months, or both.

Notice of assessment

We will issue a notice of assessment for the T5007 information return only if we apply a penalty.

Chapter 7 – Completing the T5007 slip

General information

Before completing the T5007 slips, see “Chapter 5 – Filing methods” on page 6. We can process your T5007 information return more efficiently if you follow those instructions.

Year

Enter the four digits of the calendar year in which the workers’ compensation benefits or social assistance payments were paid.

Box 10 – Workers’ compensation benefits

There are three methods of payment:

- direct payment to a claimant
- full-salaried employee award, when the workers’ compensation board repays the awarded amount to the employer who has advanced the money to the employee in anticipation of the award
- self-insured employee award, when the workers’ compensation board determines the eligibility of the claim and the amount of the award, but full responsibility for payment rests with the employer, or with an insurance company

Direct payment to claimant – Enter in box 10 the total amount (dollars and cents) of workers’ compensation benefits paid to the recipient in the year.

Full-salaried employee award and self-insured employee award – Enter in box 10 the total amount (dollars and cents) of the workers’ compensation award for the calendar year. The total payment must be reported in the year in which it is paid.

Example 1

When the claim and the benefit payments occur in different calendar years – An employee is injured and files a claim in year A. The board accepts the claim and reimburses the employer in the next year (year B). In this case, the board has to file a T5007 slip for year B for the full amount of the award.

Example 2

When reimbursements of wage-loss replacement plan benefits are deductible – An employee received $5,000 as wage-loss replacement plan benefits in year A. This amount is included in income in year A. In year B, the employee receives another $5,000 in wage-loss replacement plan benefits and workers’ compensation benefits of $15,000. It is later determined that he is required to reimburse $8,000 of the wage-loss replacement plan benefits. For year B, he would include both the $5,000 wage-loss replacement and the $15,000 workers’ compensation benefits in his income. Assuming these are his only sources of income, his total income would be $20,000. He is entitled to an $8,000 deduction representing the reimbursement of the wage-loss replacement plan benefits as other employment expenses (repayment of salary or wages). He can also deduct the $15,000 of workers’ compensation benefits which he added to his income. After deducting these amounts from net income, he has a non-capital loss of $3,000. This can be carried back 3 years and forward 20 years and deducted from income from all sources. If it is carried back to the previous tax years, the employee should send to his tax centre a completed Form T1A, Request for Loss Carryback, or a signed letter providing the details of the request.

Example 3

When an insurance company pays the immediate benefits – A worker is injured or sick and files a claim. The insurance company pays $500 to the worker, and the worker assigns workers’ compensation board rights to the insurance company. The board awards $400 to the worker and pays that amount to the insurance company. The insurance company issues a T4A slip to the worker for $100, which is the amount of unrecovered benefit payments to the worker. The board should issue a T5007 slip to the worker for the full $400 benefit awarded.

Note

Employers who continue to pay an employee’s salary before and after a workers’ compensation board claim is decided, have to withhold amounts for income tax, Canada Pension Plan, and Employment Insurance, and report these amounts on a T4 slip, Statement of Remuneration Paid. For more information, see Guide T4001, Employers’ Guide – Payroll Deductions and Remittances and Guide RC4120, Employers’ Guide – Filing the T4 Slip and Summary.

Interim assistance from a social services agency

Individuals could face financial difficulties while waiting for the workers’ compensation board to accept their claims. During this waiting period, they may rely on a social services agency for financial support. In this case, they might be required to assign their rights to income receivable from the workers' compensation board to a social services agency in exchange for interim financial support. The assignment could cover the entire amount of income or part of it.

Assignment of benefits – The amount the workers' compensation board has to report in box 10 is the total workers' compensation benefits paid in the calendar year. In addition, the social services agency has to issue a T5007 slip for the amount of social assistance paid, less the workers' compensation benefits assigned to the agency.

Note

A T5007 slip should never show a negative amount.

Box 11 – Social assistance payments or provincial or territorial supplements

Enter the total amount (dollars and cents) of assistance paid to the recipient in the calendar year.

When there is a legal transfer of certain income amounts –

In some circumstances, individuals can formally assign their rights to receive certain income, or a province or territory can transfer their rights to receive such income (for example, child support and alimony payments). Once an individual transfers his or her rights to support payments to a provincial or territorial authority, the province or territory then has the legal right to collect these payments. In this case, report in box 11 the total social assistance payments paid to the recipient in a calendar year, minus the money recovered through a formal assignment or transfer.

When certain income amounts are assigned to repay assistance – Individuals could face financial difficulties while waiting for certain income amounts (for example, workers' compensation benefits, employment insurance benefits, and Canada Pension Plan payments). During these waiting periods, they may rely on a social services agency for financial support. In such situations, they could sign agreements to repay any assistance they receive. In these agreements, they could assign their rights to all or part of any income amounts to the social services agency.

In such a situation, you have to issue a T5007 slip for the amount of social assistance advanced to the individual less any amounts recovered by assignments. The income that is received from the other agencies in repayment for the social assistance advances keeps its identity and those agencies will issue the applicable information slip to the individual for whom the payments were made.

Child support payments paid under an order or agreement made or varied after April 1997 are neither included in the recipient's income nor deductible by the payer.

Box 12 – Social insurance number

Enter the individual's social insurance number (SIN). You have to make a reasonable effort to get the SIN from each recipient. If the individual does not have a SIN, he or she has to apply for one.

If you have not received the SIN by the time you prepare the T5007 slip, do not delay completing the T5007 information return beyond the required filing date. Instead, leave this box blank and file the return on time. If an individual gives you his or her SIN after you have sent the T5007 information return to us, the individual does not need to receive an amended T5007 slip with the correct SIN but a copy should be sent to us. For more information, see "Chapter 9 – After you file" on page 12.

For more information about SIN reporting requirements and the related penalties, see "Failure to provide a social insurance number" and "Using the social insurance number" on page 8. For more information, see Information Circular IC82-2R, Social Insurance Number Legislation that Relates to the Preparation of Information Slips, or visit the Service Canada website at canada.ca/en/employment-social-development/corporate/portfolio/service-canada.

Box 13 – Report code

Enter on each slip one of the following codes to indicate whether the slip is:

- "O" original
- "A" amended (changing the financial data or identification information)
- "C" cancelled

When using code "A" or "C," enter a description at the top of the slip (for example, "AMENDED" or "CANCELLED") and include a written explanation of the reason for filing the slip. For more information, see "Chapter 9 – After you file" on page 12.

Recipient's name and address

Enter the last name of the recipient first, in capital letters, followed by the first name and initials. Enter the recipient's full mailing address.

Payer's name and address

Enter on each T5007 slip the complete name and address of the workers' compensation board, the social services agency, or similar body that paid the benefits or assistance, or determined an award to the recipient.

Distributing the T5007 slips

You can send recipients an electronic copy of their T5007 slips on or before the last day of February following the calendar year to which the information return applies, but they must have consented in writing or by email to receive the slips electronically.

Note

If you file your information return over the Internet or on electronic media, do not send us the paper copy of the forms that make up the return.

When we receive your information return, we verify to see if you have prepared it correctly. After an initial review, we enter your return into our processing system, which captures the information and performs various validity and balancing checks. If there are any problems, we may contact you.

Amending, cancelling, adding, or replacing slips

After filing your information return, you may notice an error on the T5007 slips. If so, you will have to prepare amended slips to correct the information.

Amending or cancelling slips over the Internet

To amend a slip over the Internet, change only the information that is incorrect and retain all of the remaining information that was originally submitted. Use summary report type code “A” and slip report type code “A.”

To cancel a slip, do not change any information that was contained on the original slip. Use summary report type code “A” and slip report type code “C.”

For more information about amending or cancelling information returns using the Internet, go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Amending or cancelling slips on paper

Clearly identify the new slips as amended or cancelled by writing “AMENDED” or “CANCELLED” at the top of each slip. Make sure you fill in all the necessary boxes, including the information that was correct on the original slip. Send two copies of the slips to the recipient.

Send one copy of the amended or cancelled slips with a letter explaining the reason for the amendment or cancellation to any tax centre. The addresses of our tax centres are listed on page 15. Do not file an amended or cancelled T5007 Summary.

Adding slips

We also accept additional T5007 original slips in electronic format. For more information, see “Chapter 5 – Filing methods” on page 6 or go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

After you file your information return, you may discover that you need to send us additional slips. If you have original slips that were not filed with your information return, file them separately either electronically or on paper.

We also accept additional slips on paper. Clearly identify the new slips by writing “ADDITIONAL” at the top of each slip. Send one copy of the additional slips to your tax centre. The addresses of our tax centres are listed on page 15.

Note

Any additional T5007 slips that are filed after the due date may result in a late filing penalty. For the penalty structure, see “Late filing and failure to file the T5007 information return” on page 8 or go to canada.ca/taxes-iref.

Replacing slips

If you issue T5007 slips to replace copies that were lost or destroyed, do not send us copies of these slips. Clearly identify them as “DUPLICATE” copies and keep a copy for your records.

Chapter 10 – Recovery of benefit and assistance overpayments

The following guidelines address recoveries of overpayments of benefits or assistance made to an individual by mistake. We do not consider an amount paid in error as assistance or a benefit for the individual receiving it. Therefore, you should not include it in the individual’s income for the year he or she received it. If the individual has to repay it in the same or another year, we do not allow a deduction from income for the repayments made (whether made by deduction from the individual’s benefits or assistance, or in some other manner). The following guidelines apply if the individual has repaid amounts you have reported on a T5007 slip for a previous year.

Note

A T5007 slip should never show a negative amount.

Workers' compensation benefits

Self-insured employee award

You should issue an amended T5007 slip for the year the overpayment was paid, not the year the workers' compensation board discovered or recovered the overpayment.

Example

A worker receives in year A, a total of $1,000 in wages, consisting of $600 in benefits and $400 in salary. A T5007 slip was issued for $600, as well as a T4 slip reporting the $400 salary and $600 (the amount of benefit reimbursed to the employer) in the "Other information" area with a code 77. This allows the employee to claim the other employment expense deduction. In the following year (year B), the board discovers that the worker should have received $550 in benefits and $450 in salary for year A.

Consequently, year A benefits were overpaid by $50. You should reflect this change by issuing an amended T5007 slip for year A in the amount of $550.

To calculate the individual's refundable tax credits and benefits (for example, goods and services tax/harmonized sales tax credit, Canada child benefit, and provincial or territorial tax credits or benefits), the individual's net income stays at $1,000. The increase in salary is offset by the $50 reduction in benefits. However, you have to amend the T5007 slip because there is an increase in the individual's taxable income, equivalent to the increase in salary of $50.

For more information, see Guide T4001, Employers' Guide - Payroll Deductions and Remittances, or call 1-800-959-5525.

Direct payment to claimant

Example 1

Using the previous example in which the individual only received benefits in year A, you should amend the T5007 slip for year A to report $550 in paid benefits.

Example 2

When an individual is still receiving benefits in year B, and his or her benefits for that year are reduced to recover the overpayment, or if he or she directly repays the overpayment, you should only report the net amount on the T5007 slip for year B. Once year B's benefits have been reduced to nil, you can reduce year A's benefits by any amount of the recovery that is more than year B's benefits. In this case, you should also prepare an amended T5007 slip for year A.

Note

When an identified overpayment has not been recovered, do not amend any T5007 slips.

Social assistance payments

Example 1

In year A, an individual receives $3,000 in assistance. In the following year (year B), it is discovered that the individual should have received only $2,500 in total payments. The individual is not receiving assistance in year B, but the agency recovers the overpayment of $500 in assistance in year B. In this case, you should amend the T5007 slip for year A to report $2,500 in paid assistance.

Example 2

When an individual is still receiving assistance in year B, and his or her assistance payments for that year are reduced to recover the overpayment, or he or she directly repays the overpayment, you should only report the net amount on the T5007 slip for year B. Once year B's assistance has been reduced to nil, you can reduce year A's assistance by any amount of recovery that is more than year B's assistance. In this case, you should also prepare an amended T5007 slip for year A.

Note

When an identified overpayment has not been recovered, do not amend any T5007 slips.

Distributing your copies

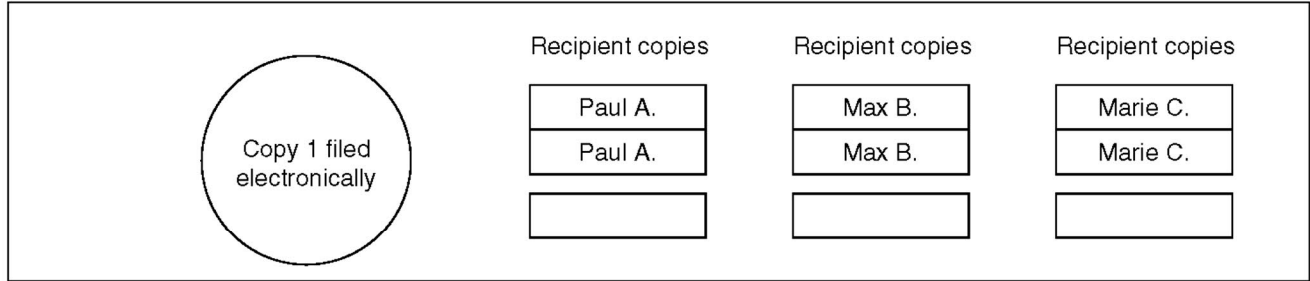

How to prepare, distribute and file your T5007 slips with your T5007 Summary

You can use this form whether you file your information return electronically or on paper. For more information on how to fill out the T5007 slip and the T5007 Summary, see “Chapter 7 – Completing the T5007 slip” on page 9 and “Chapter 8 – Completing the T5007 Summary” on page 11.

When filing electronically:

Follow the instructions and technical specifications at canada.ca/taxes-iref to file your information return. Produce one copy for the recipient and one copy (optional) for your records.

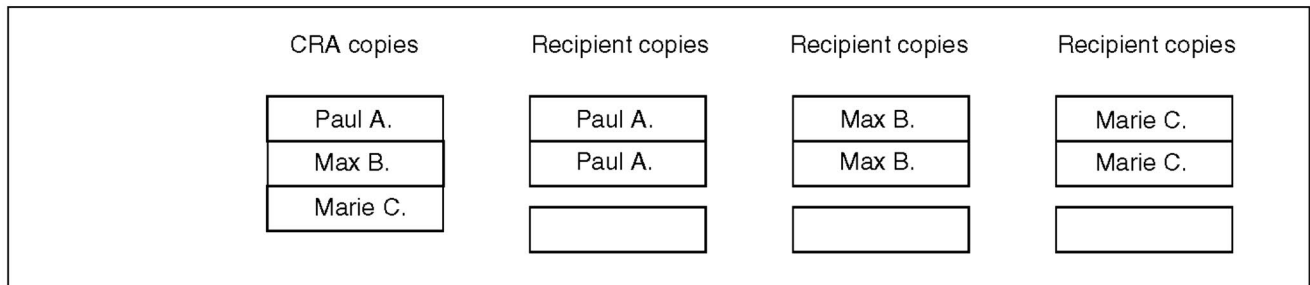

Example

When filing on paper:

- Use one sheet for three different recipients for the copy you are sending to the CRA. Do not separate the slips when you send them with your T5007 Summary.
- Use a separate sheet for the two copies you are giving to the recipient and the copy you are keeping in your records.
